Another Year of Grace

Bill, Mimi and James at the final services in the original building, Church of the Redeemer, Houston

After last year being our 25th in Aliquippa what can we say? More ups and downs, more moments with friends, visitors old and new – even visitors old and young. Another year of grace and of joy that is deeper for being long-standing. When you're older, and we truly are, you don't look for new things or big things too much, the joints and sinews are less able to take the strain! But we had our annual conference that blessed us all, a wonderful summer wedding for Michelle, then the sadness of May's mother and brother dying. Friends visited; small groups took up temporary residence; we said our daily prayers; we celebrated; and we look forward to continuing the celebration of the whole of life.

Betty Pulkingham's musical contribution to the Christian church and her shared ministry with a visionary, community-building husband give her an exciting life-story. A significant aspect of her ministry has been her ability to blend the discipline of traditional, classical musicianship with folk arts to draw congregations into a lively experience of worship. In 2006 she received an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters from Virginia Theological Seminary, and in 2007 she received the degree of Doctoris in Sacris Litteris from Wycliffe College, University of Toronto.

Annual Conference - June 15-17, 2012

Living the Covenant: Equipping the Saints

In 1979 The Episcopal Church approved a version of the Book of Common Prayer which made it clear that Baptism was to be public, central, and foundational for all Christian ministry. Forty years later we are still living into the implications on leadership and ministry of this renewed baptismal theology.

In this conference, a deacon and a bishop (who happened to be married to each other!) -- long committed to spiritual renewal and baptismal ministry -- will share understandings of Baptism and the Baptizing Community, spiritual practices and discernment, theological reflection, cradle to grave Christian formation, and a few processes and methods that enhance ministry development for individuals and communities

The conference will be interactive and participatory -- come..."wade in the water!"

Speakers: The Rt. Rev. Christopher Epting and The Rev. Susanne Watson Epting

The Rt. Rev. Christopher Epting is a retired Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Iowa. Before his election in 1988, he served for nearly twenty years as a parish priest in congregations large and small, rural and urban in the Diocese of Central Florida. Retiring after nine years as Ecumenical Officer for The Episcopal Church, Bishop Epting served for two years as the interim Dean of Trinity Cathedral in Davenport, Iowa. He currently serves on the House of Bishops' Committee on the Religious Life and as Bishop Visitor for the Community of Celebration in Aliquippa and the Community of the Transfiguration in Cincinnati.

Deacon Susanne Watson Epting currently serves as Director of the Association for Episcopal Deacons. In 1981 she began work as an assistant in campus ministry at the University of Iowa, and as lay coordinator of a small Episcopal congregation in the same city. After completing graduate work, studying the Social Gospel era in America, she was ordained to the diaconate in 1989.

From 2005-2008, she was part of the Anglican Communion delegation to the United Nations Commission on the Status of Women. Recently she has been facilitating online courses with the Church Divinity School of the Pacific and teaching ministry development at Seabury-Western Theological Seminary.
